

An aerial photograph of the Columbus Farmers Market. The market is a large, rectangular area filled with numerous stalls and buildings. The stalls are arranged in rows, with some buildings having red roofs. There are several parking areas marked with a 'P' in a white circle. The market is surrounded by green fields and trees. A road runs along the bottom edge of the market. A white arrow points to the 'South Entrance at Silo Electronic Sign Gate #1' on the left side. Another white arrow points to the 'North Entrance at Traffic Light Gate #3' on the bottom right side. A semi-transparent white box in the top right corner contains the market's name, address, phone number, and website.
